

IT'S YOU: A BREAKUP STORY - EXCERPT

This game takes place in Carlee's apartment. She has just arrived home from a long shift as a nurse at the hospital and is scrolling through her social media feeds. After a few minutes, the phone rings. It's her boyfriend, Josh. Carlee really just wants to go to sleep, but Josh always gets upset if she doesn't answer.

Carlee's lines are chosen by the player. This is an example of a possible opening exchange if the player lets the phone ring a bit before picking up.

INT. CARLEE'S APARTMENT

JOSH
(over the phone)
Hey... is everything alright? You didn't answer right away.

CARLEE
Sorry, just tired.

JOSH
Yeah, I'm exhausted too. I just had... a day, you know?

CARLEE
Same, I--

JOSH
(interrupting)
Well then, you'll appreciate this.

JOSH
Jim came over to my desk today-- second time this week-- too tell me, again, to put Healthvetica to rest.

CARLEE
Jim?

JOSH
Yeah. Jim.

CARLEE
You mentioned him before?

JOSH
He's my boss, Carlee. I mention him all the time. The doctor who's always bitching at you's name is Jeremy Price. You've mentioned him once.

CARLEE

Sorry, it's really late.

JOSH

That's fine, I get it.

JOSH

But you know what this fitness app means to me. You know how hard I've been working on it. And Jim. Oh God, Jim. Does Jim ever know I have bled for this.

JOSH

I know I've said this a million times, but I just feel as though we're all trapped in this... In this... In this toxic culture around health, you know?

JOSH

My app is going to change that. It will be... the Helvetica of Healthcare apps.

CARLEE

What?

JOSH

Heltivetic. The typeface? It's the one that's captured the hearts of millions. And Healthvetica will save those hearts. It's the companion piece to that minimalist, sans-serif perfection.
